Farmers Are Urged to Buy Red Cross Tuberculosis Seals and Help the Good Cause Along

Mr. Brody Talks of the Red Cross Christmas Seal Sale and Other Things of Interest

What is St. Clair county going to do about tuberculosis? I don't mean now tuberculosis in cows, but in humans. You know the charge is often made that farmers think more of their cattle than they think of people. While I don't think this is at all true, it is up to us to show by acts that it is not true.

There is great interest in tuberculosis among cattle, and properly so, but there should be even greater interest in tuberculosis among people. And the farmers of the county should help fight against the white plague, since the statistics show that the farmers suffer almost as much from this disease as the people in the cities, in spite of the natural advantages of pure air and out-of-door life.

What can the farmers do? They can do this as a beginning: they can help along the big Christmas Red Cross Seal Sale that is being put on throughout Michigan by the Michigan Anti-Tuberculosis Association. The State Association is trying to sell 15,000,000 one cent seals that are to be used on the reverse side of holiday letters during December. In this way the Association is trying to collect 15,000,000 pennies with which to fight tuberculosis in all the 83 counties of the state during 1920. St. Clair county included.

If the sale is to be a success every person will have to do his share. The State Association has it figured out that it will mean buying five Christmas Seals for every man, woman and child in the state. But since there are a lot of babies and indigent persons who can't buy, it is perhaps better to figure on each person buying ten or fifteen cents worth, or as much more as possible to make up for those who can't buy.

Have you got fifteen cents worth of interest in fighting tuberculosis here and throughout Michigan? If so, help the sale along. It will be held from Dec. 1st to 10th.

Alvin Balden, a prominent Jersey breeder, near Capac, has just received the good news that the dam of his junior herd sire was sold for $12,000, thus making her the highest priced Jersey cow in the world. She has a semi-official record of 737 lbs. of butter in a year as a two-year-old.

Mr. Balden's herd comprises 42 head of cows and young stock and every milking animal is either in the Registry of Merit or on test. It is also under the supervision of Animal Industry for the control of tuberculosis, and having passed two tests without showing a reactor, has been officially declared free from tuberculosis.

Mr. Balden is President of the Michigan Jersey Cattle Club and has recently shipped young sires to the states of Illinois, Mississippi and Pennsylvania.

Conversion of Liberty Bonds

The Treasury Department advises that a copy of Dept. Circular No. 158, relative to the exchange and conversion of 4 per cent Coupon Liberty Bonds, has been forwarded to all banks and trust companies in the United States.

Your attention is specifically called to the following features contained therein:—

The last coupon on 4 per cent Second Liberty Loan Bonds is due November 15, 1919.

The last coupon on 4 per cent First Liberty Loan Converted Bonds is due December 15, 1919.

Holders of such 4 per cent coupon bonds are urged to request to convert them into bonds bearing 4 1/2 per cent interest before Nov. 15, 1919, in the case of the Second Liberty Loan, or Dec. 15, 1919, in the case of the First Liberty Loan Converted, and thus eliminate an awkward interest adjustment.

Four per cent coupon bonds converted after Nov. 15 in the case of the Second Liberty Loan, or Dec. 15, in the case of the first Liberty Loan Converted, will, in accordance with the extended conversion privilege, be affected as of the next semi-annual interest payment dates, i. e., May 15 or June 15, 1920. As there are no coupons attached to the bonds covering interest to those dates, it will be necessary for the Treasury Department to remit to the holders of such 4 per cent bonds a special coupon or check representing interest to May 15 or June 15, '20, as the case may be.

There will be no definite 4 per cent coupon bonds ready for delivery before March, 1920, and unless specifically stated to the contrary, all 4 per cent bonds received will be deemed to have been surrendered for CONVERSION into 4 1/2 per cent bonds.

4 1/2 per cent First Liberty Loan Converted and 4 1/2 per cent Second Liberty Loan Converted definite bonds will be available for delivery on or about March 15, '20.

Unless the holders of 4 per cent coupon bonds present them for conversion before Nov. 15 or Dec. 15, 1919, they should be held until such time as the definite bonds are ready for delivery.

It is suggested that holders of 4 per cent Coupon Bonds who do not care to convert, be urged to exchange them for registered bonds which are in permanent form.

A BIG RE-UNION

Twenty years ago when the inauguration of the International Live Stock Exposition summoned to Chicago live stock breeders and feeders from even the remote recesses of civilization, the leaders of the trade in an international sense, embraced the opportunity to create a new epoch.

During the intervening period many of these have passed from sphere of usefulness, a new generation profiting by their public spiritedness and the seed they sowed has borne abundant fruit. The 1919 International affords a big opportunity for a reunion of the survivors and a demonstration of how well they build at a critical stage of the industry when public interest was revived in opportune manner.

Every man, woman or child enjoying the distinction of attending the 1900 International Live Stock Exposition should embrace this opportunity to participate in the Twentieth Anniversary of that event at Chicago during the first week in December.

BECOMING POPULAR

The several circles of the Methodist Episcopal Ladies' Aid have for quite a time been holding fortnightly meetings at different homes at which time the members of one circle would serve a 25c supper.

These suppers soon became so popular with the Aid and a few friends whom they would invite that the public desired admittance and now the meals are served in the church dining room to accommodate as many as wish to come, although the ladies are not advertising the fact, fearing to overburden a few.

We attended one of these suppers on Wednesday evening and can speak nothing but words of praise for it.

LIBERTY DAY PROCLAMATION

Governor Sleeper Asks That Anniversary of Signing of the Armistice Be Observed

The eleventh day of November next will be the first anniversary of the signing of the armistice in the Great War, and, inasmuch as the Michigan Legislature in the session of 1919 passed an act making it the duty of school officers and teachers to have the schools under their charge observe said day with appropriate commemorative exercises it seems fitting that the day should not be allowed to pass without attention being called to its significance.

Therefore, I, Albert E. Sleeper, Governor of the State of Michigan do issue this my proclamation and hereby request a proper and appropriate observance, on the part of the people of this State, of the Eleventh day of November, 1919, I further request that this proclamation be read in all the schools of the State.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State, this 29th day of October, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and nineteen and of the Commonwealth the eighty-third.

ALBERT E. SLEEPER, Governor.

Hodgins-McCall

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Hodgins in Yale, on Saturday, Nov. 1st, 1919, when their daughter Mary was made the wife of Lloyd McCall.

At three-thirty p. m. the two quietly took their places before the officiating minister, Elder Dennison McCall, father of the groom, and the ceremony was performed in the presence of about forty-five near relatives and friends.

The bride wore a beautiful gown of pale pink Georgette and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses.

The rooms were decorated with white chrysanthemums and pink and white roses.

An elegant three-course dinner was served, after the hearty congratulations of the guests had been given, and later Mr. and Mrs. McCall left on a short wedding trip, the bride's going away gown being of brown with a brown beaver hat.

Many beautiful gifts were bestowed upon the couple and a nice sum of money.

They will reside upon the farm next to Denison McCall's, two miles west of Yale and will soon be settled and at home to their friends.

Our congratulations go with these newly-weds, who are two of Yale's best young people, and may life be ever bright and happy.

Another Wet and Dry Election, Maybe

There seems to be a possibility that Michigan will have another wet and dry election in 1920 as the Secretary of State has been ordered to show cause why a writ of mandamus should not be issued compelling him to submit to vote the ratification of the federal prohibition amendment. The question of a referendum is still to be decided by the court. That the liquor interests should have any doubt as to where this state will stand on a vote is beyond question. What they in reality want is to get the matter tied up in the courts in such a way that they can find some way of keeping national prohibition from becoming effective Jan. 16, 1920. They have no chance.

KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT TUESDAY

Arthur Heythaler, St. Clair Meets Instant Death While on Hunting Trip

It was little thought that a simple hunting trip of a few miles and a few hours duration, could bring such awful tragedy as befell three St. Clair men, who left that town in a machine at five-thirty Tuesday morning, paused in Port Huron long enough to secure breakfast and then drove on towards Beard's Hills where they expected to hunt rabbits for the day, but they did not arrive at their destination and the anticipated pleasure was not realized.

The men were Arthur Heythaler, Alderman Charles Shiappa-cassee and Theodore Gouliat. Near the hills and rounding a curve at Gardendale the machine began to skid and Heythaler, sitting in the front seat with Shiappa-cassee, the driver, sensing danger, jumped from the car into the ditch and the driver not gaining control of the wheel, the machine landed in the six foot ditch on top of the unfortunate man who had jumped. Help had to be secured before the lifeless body could be extricated, when he was quickly taken to the Port Huron hospital, but nothing could be done.

The other men were not injured but are facing a shocking tragedy which has unnerved them both, as Heythaler was a close friend.

They believe that if he had stuck to his seat he would now have been alive.

If no other cases break out school will open on Monday next.

Common Council Adopts Eastern Standard Time As Official Time for City of Yale

Suppose Farmers Strike

The farmers keep their heads when all others fly off the track. We ask city workers to ponder a moment what might happen if the farmers should do what the workers are doing—demanding shorter hours and higher pay. The farmers are their own bosses, so they would not have to quarrel with anybody. They could hold out on strike until they got good and ready for they can feed themselves.

You working city fellows suppose for a moment that the farmers adopted the eight hour day. It would cut down production at least half. Suppose they also set a price on their labor based on an eight hour basic scale. Where would you get your food? Only the rich could buy it at all, for the price would be prohibitive to men on strike. If the cost of living is too high now, how will lessened production affect it? How will increased cost of production bring prices down? You live now because the farmers have gone on producing, working nearer sixteen hours a day instead of eight hours. You can buy food because the farmers have not gone on strike, have not ceased to produce, have not cornered the market and said: "We demand so much for our products or we won't work."

If you city workers expect the farmers to go on feeding you at the old price you have got to get back to work at the old wage and make it possible for the farmer to buy cheaper so he can produce cheaper. This is not a one-sided game. It takes two to play it, and if you city fellows quit, don't get sore if you go hungry soon. Either the farmers must do as you are doing, shorten the hours and demand higher pay, or else you must lengthen the hours and produce more without more pay.

The farmers have been patient with you. When they lose their patience look out. You have already taken their help. If they quit too who is going to feed you? What city workers have in common with farmers is not so much political as economical. What are you going to do about it?

Mrs. Thomas Perrin, East Kenoskee

Ten Thrift Commandments

Ten commandments have been drawn up by a committee of nationally known bankers and others to aid in the great campaign against the high cost of living are as follows:—

- First—Make a budget.
- Second—Keep an intelligent record of expenditures.
- Third—Have a bank account.
- Fourth—Carry life insurance.
- Fifth—Make a will.
- Sixth—Own your own home eventually.
- Seventh—Pay your bills promptly.
- Eighth—Invest in war savings and other government securities.
- Ninth—Spend less than you earn.
- Tenth—Share with others. Thrift without benevolence is a doubtful blessing.

Some real advice, don't you think?

COUNTY PARK IS DISCUSSED

Sites Have Been Submitted to the Board of Supervisors

The question of securing a park for the county for the use of the general public at some point on the lake shore came before the board of supervisors recently in the nature of a report from a special committee which has been appointed in June to investigate proposed sites.

The committee reported on three available sites as follows: a six hundred acre tract in Fort Gratiot township with 500 feet of shore frontage which can be purchased for $70,000; a site in the rear of Cedarwood plat consisting of 18 acres with a 106 foot right of way to the beach front for $4,250; a site in Burtchville township with 1492 feet of lake frontage which can be purchased at $20 per foot.

It was suggested by the committee that the supervisors look over the sites, and it was decided to make the trip Thursday afternoon in automobiles.

Chairman B. D. Cady suggested to the supervisors that if any action was to be taken on securing a county park on the lake shore now was the time to do it as the price of lake frontage values was rapidly increasing.
